Innovation Station

The Levittown Public Library established the Innovation Station to further the creative learning and technological experiences of library patrons. The Innovation Station supports the mission of providing opportunities to design projects, collaborate with other participants and gain practical experience with new forms of technology.

The Innovation Station will emphasize new technology used for creativity and fabrication. These include but are not limited too 3D printers, laser engravers, paper cutters, robotics, computer programming, digital design, cooking and sewing equipment.

Procedure for the use of the Innovation Station

The residents of the Levittown School District will have preference when using the Innovation Station area and equipment. Before using the room, patrons will schedule appointments with the Technology Center. Furthermore, patrons must present a current, valid identification and sign a liability form. The user is responsible for any damaged and/or missing equipment and will be charged replacement cost for the damage and/or the missing equipment. Beverages and food are only permitted during library programs or approved meetings with prior permission.
